Patentwerk
European Patent Attorneys

Use of this website and / or communication through this website does not establish a patent attorney-client relationship. Emails sent through this website are not confidential and are not protected by privileges.

We do not agree with any confidentiality of messages sent through this website. Please do not send us information about inventions or legal matters unless and until a formal client relationship has been established. Our professional obligations require that before we hire a new client or new business, we determine whether there are actual or potential conflicts with any of our existing or former clients.

Patentwerk makes every effort to ensure that the materials and information on this website are accurate and complete. However, they are provided for general information purposes only, not to provide legal advice, and they do not necessarily reflect laws or regulations. No statement or warranty, express or implied, is made as to its accuracy or completeness and therefore no rights can be derived from the information on this website. All views expressed on or through this website or related social media channels are the views of the individual author and may not reflect the views of Patentwerk or any of its other patent attorneys.

All liability with regard to damage that may arise through the use of or reliance on materials and information on this website is excluded.

CERTIFIED
ISO 9001 · ISO/IEC 27001